Historical Dupo Church

The church's main chapel was built in 1914. The addition was added in 1962. The working bell tower and windows are original. In 1915, the local High School woodworking class built the alter and two matching chairs.

Chapel

The chapel's foyer is situated off South 5th Street and features a spacious private office near its entrance. Access to the chapel is available through an ADA-compliant ramp and front stairs. With a seating capacity for approximately 160 individuals, the chapel provides an abundance of space for gatherings.

Upper Level

The church's upper level can be reached via a staircase or (ADA) compliant chair lift. An open dining space previous used as a fellowship hall lies adjacent to a fully-equipped kitchen and a restroom. The kitchen itself contains a gas stove, dishwasher, refrigerator, and serving area for meal preparation and distribution.

Lower Level

The church's lower level contains a restroom facility. Additionally, there is a large room previously utilized as a Sunday School room. Two more spacious rooms are also located on this floor, along with access points leading down to the building's basement.
